Comments concerning draft rulemakings

Section 4.185 of 16 TAC Chapter 4 Subchapter A is solely for pilot programs for recycling. There is no language for pilot programs for alternative onsite disposal methods that are as protective of the environment as the proposed language. This means that one either meets the requirements for onsite disposal or hauls the waste offsite if it can't be recycled. As new science continues to advance, onsite disposal methods may arise that are as protective of the environment as your currently proposed rule but are cheaper than hauling to a landfill. It would be extremely beneficial to operators to provide language that would allow for future advances in disposal that can be utilized.
